MR. BROWN "MADE GOOD."

Federal Juryman Paid His "Fine" by Giving Promised Banquet. At the Kenyon hotel last evening the members of the jury serving in the United States district court were tendered a banquet by Juror Newell A. Brown. It will be remembered by readers of the "News" that Mr. Brown, who is a resident of Lehi, was married on Wednesday of last week to Miss Annie Swingewood of Salt Lake. Upon learning that their associate had taken unto himself a wife, without taking them into his confidence, the other members of the panel caused Mr. Brown to be summoned before Deputy Marshal L. H. Smythe, who, as acting judge, sentenced the accused to be detained in the company of his fellow jurors for a period of six hours, to pay into court a box of cigars and as a further penalty, to give a dinner to all the members of the jury serving all the members of the jury serving with him. The cigars were promptly forthcoming, the six hours retention was suspended, upon the presentation to the "judge" of a fine boquet of carto the "judge" of a fine boquet of carnations, and the promise was given of a banquet to be held Monday evening.

Present last evening were the following: J. A. DeValley, jury bailiff: Newell Brown, the guest of honor; Dudley Cook of Provo, John Burns of Bingham, Joseph H. H. Hardman of Mendon, Cache county; A. H. Thompson of Logan, S. T. Beck of Spring City, C. W. Chase of Ogden, James Crawford of Manti, William Thomas, W. G.
Browning, Don H. Porter, John A.
Bowers of Salt Lake, and newspaper men.

A sumptuous dinner was partaken of, after which juror S. B. Beck, on behalf of his associates, presented the bride and groom with a silver cream and sugar set. The following was engraved upon each of the pieces: "Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brown. From the Federal Jury-5-21-06." Men and women who cat fat meats and drink strong coffee usually have coarse, florid skins. # A DECISION OF VAST IMPORTANCE

It Was Rendered in Spokane by United States Judge Whitson.

WATER FOR IRRIGATION.

ase in Which Montana Claimed a Prior Right Over Wyoming-Suit Brought by Ranchmen.

(Special to the "News,") Cheyenne, Wyo., May 22.-A decision of vast importance to the users of water for irrigation in Wyoming was rendered in Spokane a few days ago by United States Judge Edward Whitson in a suit brought by the ranchmen of Sage creek, in Big Horn county, Wyoming, against appropriators in Mon-Sage creek rises in southern tana. Sage creek rises in southern Montana, crosses the line and flows into the Stinkingwater river in Big Horn county. The Montana appropriators claimed a prior right to the water by virtue of the fact that the stream had its source in their state. The evidence showed that W. A. Morris and T. N. Howell appropriated water from Sage creek three or four years prior to the appropriation of S. N. Bean and others in Montana. The giversion of water to the Bean and diversion of water to the Bean and other Montana ranches used almost the entire flow of Sage creek and cut the Wyoming men short, hence the

The decision was in effect that Mor-ris and Howell had prior rights to the waters of Sage creek, regardless of the fact that the contending parties are in different states. The decision is a big victory for Wyoming people. In commenting on the case Judge Whitson said:

said:
"A riparian owner on the Mississippi river might seek to enjoin the diversion of the waters of Sage creek in Montana because the waters of Sage creek eventually reach the Missouri river, and through that stream flow into the Mississippi."

The Sage creek situation exists in southern Albany county, in Uinta county, this state, and the Kansas-Colorado water suit is very similar. The users of water from the Laramie The users of water from the Laramie river, or rather from Sand creek, a tributary, which rises in Colorado, contend that they have the prior right to the waters of Sand creek for the reason they appropriated some years prior to the appropriation by Colorado users, and the Albany county ranchman feels that when the final decision comes, it will be the same as that of comes, it will be the same as that of Judge Whitson in the Sage creek case,

A YEAR OF BLOOD.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so coplously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs country to be the finest in to remain there. Ordinary grain crops can be raised there with good yield, with apples and potatoes. But sheep men have been allowing their dead animals to remain unburied along the streams, which promises to cause trouble.

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum—The opening performance of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," to be presented by the Orpheum Stock company, has been postponed until tomorrow's matinee. In explanation of this Manager MacLean says, "Everybody is up in their lines and we could not the decrease of the same ways." body is up in their lines and we could put the drama on tonight, but two of my leading people got here late, and I do not intend to run any chances. I would much rather lose several nights' receipts, than to present anything but a perfect production. The public is entitled to the best we have and will get it, and those who have bought seats for tonight can change them for some for tonight can change them for some other night, or get their money back if they desire. I have promised the best stock company and presentations that Salt Lake has ever had, and the goods will be delivered tomorrow afternoon.

Grand-"Knobs O' Tennessee" was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic audience at the Grand last night. The audience at the Grand last night. The play is a melodrama, founded on southern life, and abounds in the thrilling scenes that characterize the haunts of "moonshiners." Whit Brandon, as Joe Preston, the brave, big-hearted and typical man of the mountains of the south, was cast in a role entirely suited to his abilities, while Miss Tucker, as Madeline Bailey, the city-bred girl who loves the rough mountaineer, and for her love sacrifices her father and his large fortune, enacted her part so well. her love sacrifices her father and his large fortune, enacted her part so well that she won most hearty applause time and again. The support throughout was good, with very few exceptions. The play is on for tonight and tomorow night, with the usual Wednesday matinee. Thursday evening the "Pearl of Savoy" will be played for the first time in Sait Lake for a generation.

Casino Park—One of the largest openings that any summer resort has ever had in Salt Lake is predicted for the new Casino park tomorrow night. The improvements are rapidly nearing The improvements are rapidly hearing completion, and everything will be in readiness for the opening. The seating capacity now is over 1,500, the front part of the house being laid out in loges, each seating six persons, and little box parties will probably be the "fad" as the season advances. The first show promises to be an attractive one "fad" as the season advances. The first show promises to be an attractive one, as under A. M. Zinn's careful eye no detail is overlooked. The bill each week will be of a refined and clever order, and every effort will be made to make the Casino a popular resort all summer for the men, women and children alike. The opera will be changed each week; the first entertainment is styled "Peezy-Weezy," or "A Trip to the Trail." The second week "The Mascot," one of the standard comic operas, will be given.

SCIATICA CURED AFTER TWENTY YEARS OF TORTURE.

YEARS OF TORTURE.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton St. Minneapolis, Minn. was tortured by sclatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. Mr. Massey relates his experience for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relleves the pain. For sale by all druggists.
